Sprint Retrospective

What went well:

- We feel that our inter team member communication regarding how our code works was very good and that everyone could easily communicate with each other and ideas/problems they had.
- The use of Trello and GitHub for code review and project management proved to be very useful.
- The daily scrum meetings were run at a consistent time and in a consistent format and proved to be a useful way to discuss the progress of each team member.
- User stories followed the format described on the lecture slides well and allowed team members to pick up tasks from the sprint backlog with ease.

What could be improved:
- A more concise and structured sprint review with the clients.

What will we commit to improve upon in the next sprint?
- We will focus on producing and preparing a more concise and structured sprint review.
